BIKE LAWYER, DAVID HAY, QUOTED IN THIS WEEK'S BUSINESS IN VANCOUVER

Helmet laws doing more harm than good for city cycling

Vancouver's Bike Lawyer, David Hay, is quoted in Peter Ladner's article "Helmet laws doing more harm than good for city cycling". David has a unique perspective of the needs for helmets and the tragedy that can happen as a result of not wearing one. However, as Peter's article discusses, this is a big bump in the road for a proposed Vancouver Bike share program similar to other cities. And a further set back in Vancouver's quest to become one of the greenest cities in the world.
