DAVID HAY APPOINTED QUEEN'S COUNSEL

Partner, David Hay, was appointed Queen's Counsel (Q.C) by the Attorney General of British Columbia. Under the Queens Counsel Act, the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, on the recommendation of the Attorney General, may bestow on lawyers in British Columbia the honorary title of Queen's Counsel to recognize exceptional merit and contribution to the legal profession.

David is the fifth Queen's Counsel at Richards Buell Sutton.

David is a passionate advocate for those with serious personal injuries from bicycle-related accidents and other causes. He has appeared at all levels of the British Columbia courts and has extensive experience in mediations. He is also regularly consulted by members of the media to comment on bike-related legal issues and the rights of bicyclists.

All the lawyers and staff at RBS are delighted that David has been recognized for his exceptional work.
