RAY POLLARD, DIRECTOR OF ASSOCIATE DEVELOPMENT, RETIRES AFTER ALMOST 44 YEARS AT RBS

Our lawyers, management and staff wish Ray Pollard well as he retires today after serving our firm for nearly 44 years. Ray joined Buell Ellis in 1975, one of the three firms that merged to form Richards Buell Sutton. Over the course of his legal career, Ray was a strong litigator, appearing in every level of court including the Supreme Court of Canada. He retired from practice as a partner in 2008, and moved into the Director of Associate Development role providing guidance and professional development support to countless associates.

Ray's testimonial speaks volumes to his career here: "RBS has been a terrific place to work and has provided me with a wonderful environment for the practice of law - great colleagues, wonderful staff, and interesting work."
