THE RICHARDS BUELL SUTTON BUSINESS LAW CLINIC AT THE PETER A. ALLARD SCHOOL OF LAW

RBS and the University of British Columbia have been connected for over a century. Our predecessor firm drafted the original University Act in 1908 establishing this iconic institution. With pleasure we provide continued support to the Peter A. Allard School of Law through our quarter million dollar donation to fund what is now called the Richards Buell Sutton LLP Business Law Clinic. Our support provides the Centre with much-needed resources to preserve and enrich its educational programs, research and scholarship, and community initiatives.

“Our firm has had a long and rewarding relationship with UBC, and we are delighted to maintain our support through our contribution to the Business Law Clinic. The Clinic is another example of the innovative approach of the Allard School of Law to legal education, which includes experiential learning opportunities for our future business lawyers.” – Managing Partner and Practice Leader of our Advanced Education and Research Group, Jeff Lowe Q.C.
