WHY CHOOSE RBS?

Ask around. Our clients, some of them multi-generational, have worked with us for decades; more than one institutional client has been with us for more than a century. Put another way, clients have included us in their journey as they evolve and grow. They asked us to protect them, go to bat for them, navigate deals, and help them understand their rights. Our clients believe we do these things well, and we continue to endeavor to earn each client's loyalty with every piece of work.

We have argued before all levels of court, conducted mediations, navigated arbitrations, and negotiated settlements. We have also represented clients in deals worth hundreds of millions and others worth thousands, as most big businesses begin small. We have witnessed our lion's share of budding business and start-ups become larger and successful. Our lawyers and staff in personal injury, family law, and wealth preservation are compassionate and skilled. Their sensitivity is matched with their fierceness in representing our clients, advancing their position, and protecting their rights.

Local and international law firms send us their clients in all of our core areas of service. They have for decades. Other firms know that we are familiar with virtually all significant transactions in BC dating back more than a century.

Our firm is large enough for us to learn from each other and to collaborate on your legal matter as warranted. We have the ability to assign the most appropriate lawyer to your file and not "over lawyer" your file where there is no benefit to you. We are of a size that every client is important to us and that is the way we like it.

Our firm's culture is respectful, diverse, and community-oriented. We have gathered an enviable group of individuals who share our collective passion for caring about you, our clients, who have chosen to work with us over many other law firms and companies.
